Mother's Day Reflections from Our Teachers

A Heartfelt Farewell and Happy Mother's Day

As I approach my final Mother's Day at our school before retirement, I find myself reflecting on the beautiful chaos of the last few decades.

Balancing the roles of a primary teacher and a mum of three kids hasn't always been a walk in the park, but it has been the greatest privilege of my life.

To my students: thank you for keeping me young at heart and teaching me as much as I taught you. To my own children: you remain my greatest inspiration. As I prepare for my next chapter, I am filled with immense gratitude for this community that has truly felt like a second family.

Happy Mother's Day to all the incredible women shaping our future.

Thank You, Mum

As we celebrate Mother's Day across our primary school, I find myself reflecting on the incredible woman who shaped my world: my own mother.

Mum, thank you for being my very first teacher and my biggest cheerleader. Long before I ever stepped into a classroom, your gentle patience taught me how to be kind, and how to believe in myself.

You packed my lunches, dried my tears, and always celebrated my tiny victories. Everything good I try to share with our students today, I first learned from you.

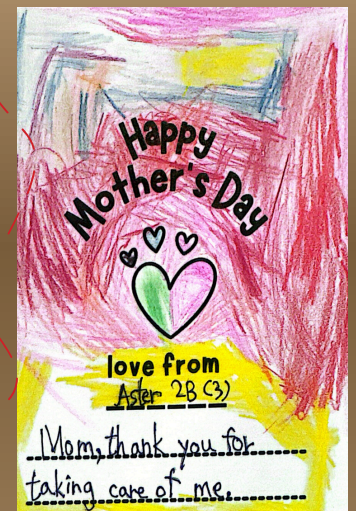

Thank you for your endless, unconditional love. Happy Mother's Day!

The Best Gift

On Mother's Day, I wanted to make my mother feel special. I wrote a "thank you" note that said, "Thank you for your care. I love you, Mom." I put it in an envelope. I ^{also} kept my room tidy and helped with small chores. Later, we watched a movie. My mother hugged me and said I was kind. I learned that Mother's Day is about ^{showing} love every day.

Heartfelt Mother's Day Stories

Mother's Day Morning

On Mother's Day morning, I woke up excitedly because I wanted to make something special. I made a LEGO flower that I had bought ^{the} day before, and I also made a Mother's Day card. When my mother woke up, I surprised her. As she saw what I had gifted her, she smiled. Then I said, "Happy Mother's Day, Mom, I love you!" She said that I was the best gift she had ever asked for.

A Surprise Walk

Yesterday was Mother's Day, and I wanted to do something special for my mother. She always takes care of me and gives me all the love, so I planned a surprise for her. After breakfast, I said, "Mum, I have a surprise just for you!" She asked what it was with a smile on her face. I didn't tell her because it was a surprise!

We went down to the park. It was very quiet and peaceful. We walked alongside each other. I held her hand and picked flowers for her.

After a while, we returned back home. I used some extra flowers to make a simple bouquet. I gave it to her and she smiled brightly. "You make me proud." ^{said} shensays while taking the bouquet.
